

WATERCOLOR PAINTING WORKSHOP in SOUTHERN SPAIN
with JANET ROGERS, AWS and STEVE ROGERS, AWS
May 14-26, 2008

This exciting workshop tour will take place in the historic and picturesque city of RONDA. The largest of Spain's white towns, it is famous for the deep cleft in the rock upon which it is built, and through which flows the Rio Tajo. The 18th century Puente Nuevo arched bridge was made famous by Ernest Hemingway in For Whom the Bell Tolls, and houses are built along the sheer sides of the cliff. Known as the birthplace of modern bullfighting, Ronda was home to the first school for matadors and the bull ring dates from 1785. You will stay in Ronda for 8 nights, at the four star Hotel Reina Victoria, rooms with private bathrooms and air conditioning. Ronda has a wealth of things to paint, in addition there will be a couple of excursions to other small towns for painting and exploration. Then drive to GRANADA for three nights at the Melia Granada, a four star hotel in the center of the historical city. A half day walking tour of the famous Alhambra and Generalife garden, and time for individual sightseeing, shopping, and museums in this beautiful city.

For photos of Ronda and the hotels, see our website at www.webstersworld.net

Janet and Steve Rogers met at a Robert E. Wood watercolor workshop in 1984 - their watercolor world hasn't been the same since!

Janet, a signature member of AWS, has won numerous awards for her watercolors. Well known for her sensitive portraits and expressive floral paintings, she is a popular workshop instructor and demonstrates for events, including Epcot's International Flower & Garden Festival.

Steve has made a career of painting since 1975. He is a signature member of AWS, NWS and FWS. His paintings were included in six of the last ten American Watercolor Society International Exhibitions and he received awards in four of these. He won the 2006 NWS Best of Show Purchase Award with Silver Star

Janet and Steve are experienced workshop teachers, and have led groups to Greece, Italy & France since 1992. They will provide participants with a list of suggested art materials, and for questions on this workshop they may be reached by email at:
